

Cultural action of Art and Design in shaping public spaces for interaction and development of the community

Responsible researchers: Rosa Gonzales Mendiburu and Mihaela Radulescu de Barrio de Mendoza

Research assistants: Edward Venero and Milagro Farfán

Funded by: PUCP

Department of Fine Arts – Research Unit

---

Art and design are actively involved in shaping worldviews. They do it from several sources or points of action. A special interest is the public space in which people live together, the way where they walk and work as matrix signs and ideas for the community. For the designer is critical to assess the public space as community interactions space, to intervene with messages and constructions generating senses.