

Elements for the grammar description of Aymara in Moquegua

Responsible researcher: Paola Roxana Cépeda Cáceres

Research assistant: Mario Renato and Martín Cépeda Cáceres

Department of Humanities - Literature and Linguistics Section

The purpose of the research is to collect lexical, phonological and morphosyntactic information of Aymara that is still spoken in the District of Carumas (province of Mariscal Nieto, department of Moquegua, 1130 km south of Lima). This variety was briefly registered, but not described in depth. The research was funded by the Academic Research Office-DAI (DAI projects 2007-3456 and 2009-0040), of the Andean studies program of the Graduate school PUCP (2008) and the Research vice-rector's Office PUCP (DGI projects 2010-0063 and DGI 2011 - 0179).
